ELLSWORTHIAN

1952

June 17, 1952

Dear Bobbie,

Just think, another year has flown by, and we'll be seniors. Gee, doesn't that have a wonderful ring? Seniors. Oh Boy!!! We've had fun this year but wait'll you see what we have next year. Wow!!! Especially Washington!

Never forget C.Y.O. and minstrel practices, not to mention that night we went down to Rudy's Pizzaria. and remember that time at the Drive-In when we got those French fries, and the owner asked us who we were? I thought I'd die.

You know, now I wish we had gone to Middletown for that weekend. --No, not to the asylum, but to the convent for the retreat. I bet we would have revolutionized the religous profession. Well, maybe next year.

Bobby, you know, you have talent --those pictures showed that! You could be a model!!!!!

See you at Vassar! Alice

Senior Class History

On a brisk, cool September morning in 1948 the students and faculty of Ellsworth awaited our arrival with bated breath. Something new was to be added — the Class of 1952. What would we be like? We were surely, in our own estimation, the most intellectual, most humorous, and personality-packed class ever to favor the school with our presence. But it happened to us, too, as it has been happening to freshmen since time immemorial. The old ego deflated slowly as we discovered our lowly state. Happily, though, we were kept pretty busy and so had little time to bemoan our lot.

Our class was soon settled and elected the following officers: Ronald Driscoll, president; Myron Burr, vice president; Zula Carey, secretary, and Rachel Collins, treasurer. The sophomore class welcomed us at a well planned and entertaining party. In the spring we reciprocated with a party with Ronald Driscoll as general chairman. The theme of the party was the comic strips. By the way, did the sophomores ever guess who Humphrey was?

Representing our class in dramatics were Elaine Kupchunos and George Stone in the musical comedy, "The Dumb Waiter." Our first year introduced Freshman Orientation, and we soon felt at home. And then, at last, it was over, and we entered the brilliant ranks of the sophomore class.

Myron Burr was inducted as president; George Stone, vice president; Marget Parent, secretary; and June Rose, treasurer.

It was now our turn to look wonderingly at the brash young things who were taking our place as freshmen. We welcomed them with a party. Ronald Driscoll took the helm again on the ship's deck which was the theme of our shindig.

As sophomores we found that we could encompass more activities. Softball claimed the attention of some of our more energetic girls, and their interest in it continued. They were June Rose, Elaine Barber, Marilyn Bannock, Anne Breor, Leona Euskavech, Gloria Grotta, Joan Clifton, and Marget Parent. The baseball diamond attracted Harold Mansfield, James Gillette, George Stone, Alfred Bowidas, Irving Foster, Jack Graham, and Ronald Driscoll.

All in all the sophomore year was a good one. Our teachers had come to be more than teachers—they were our friends, and the word Ellsworthian had taken on real meaning for us. We had a sense of belonging, of being a part of a fine school.

The advent of our junior year, then, found all of us a little more trim, a little more sure. The slate of officers had changed slightly. Myron Burr was still our head man; Ronald Driscoll was vice president; Sally Stiles, secretary; and Marget Parent, treasurer.

And now our whole horizon seemed to broaden. This year the school was to feel the strong influence of the Class of 1952, for in the various clubs many of the offices were held by its members. In the S.C.H.E. June Rose served as vice president; Janet Ericksen, secretary; and Ina Pasqualini, treasurer. In the Dramatic Club, June Rose was vice president and Stephen Wisneski, secretary. Another popular member of our class, Ronald Driscoll, was chosen treasurer of the Hi-Y. Serving as color guards for our assemblies for the last three years were George Stone, Ronald Driscoll, and William Martinez.

We were also well represented in the sports field. In soccer we were runners up for the Class C Title with many of the juniors playing ball and warming the bench. Those were George Stone, Stephen Wisneski, George Mellen, Earl Larson, Harold Mansfield, Robert Saxton, Richard Brennan, William Martinez, Alfred Bowidas, Myron Burr, and Peter Winton. Doing their bit as assistant managers were Francis Sedar and John Gregonis.

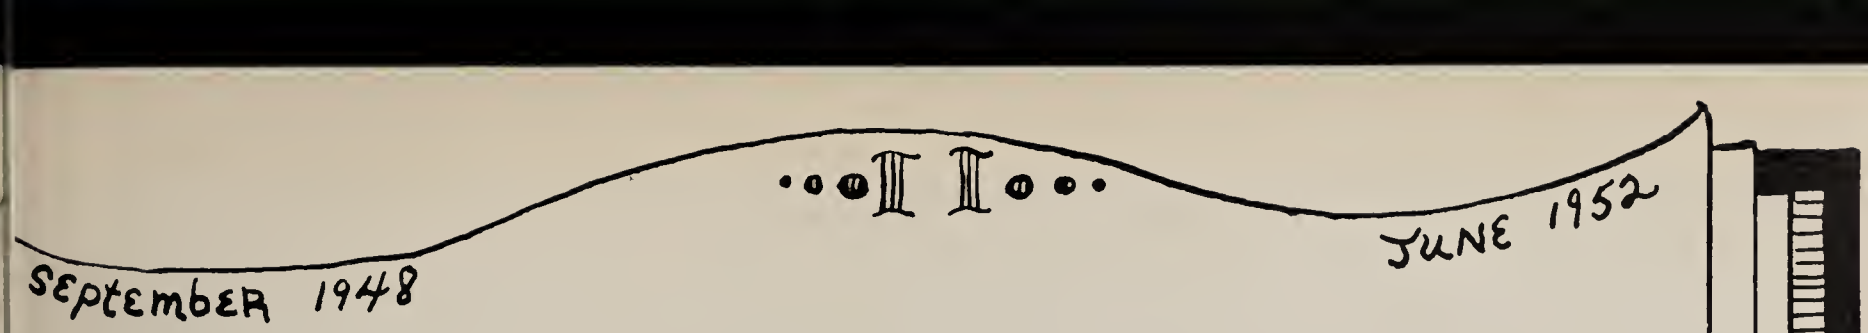

In basketball, too, juniors predominated. Wearing the maroon and gold were William Martinez, Alfred Bowidas, Irving Foster, Theodore Wuskell, George Stone, Ronald Driscoll, James Gillette, George Mellen, and Richard Brennan.

New records were set by Theodore Wuskell and Alfred Bowidas in pole vaulting and high jumping respectively, and these honors, we are sure, were valuable contributions towards Ellsworth's fifth consecutive year as Yale winners. Stephen Wisneski was manager of the track team.

In the spring of 1951 Elaine Barber, Joan Butler, and Marget Parent were chosen to represent Ellsworth at Laurel Girls' State and Ronald Driscoll and Richard Brennan, Nutmeg Boys' State.

And when the solemn strains of Pomp and Circumstance hushed the auditorium for the seniors' last march, Elaine Kupchunos and Ronald Driscoll wielded the marshals' batons with dignity befitting the occasion. Eleven other top juniors acted as ushers. Included were Marilyn Hall, Elaine Barber, Joan Butler, June Rose, Shirley Delnicki, Janet Nicewicz, Ina Pasqualini, Carol Whitham, Donna Chapman, Beverly Warbec, and Marget Parent.

In the field of journalism Elaine Kupchunos was editor of the South Winds; Marget Parent, exchange editor; and Janet Nicewicz was Parade of Youth correspondent and business manager.

Our editor was also elected to the Quill and Scroll Honor Society for High School Journalists.

And dear to memory was the Junior Prom. Co-chairmen Myron Burr and Marget Parent with the assisting committee chairmen, Peter Winton, Carol Whitham, June Rose, George Stone, Janet Nicewicz, Elaine Kupchunos, and Stephen Wisneski, planned a beautiful and unforgettable evening. Sally Stiles reigned as queen of the Old Colonial South, while Al Gentile's music provided sparkling rhythm for dancing.

The traditional ceremony of accepting the front steps from the seniors marked another milestone in our progress. We were on our way, and quite suddenly, there we were—Seniors!

Not so much confusion and oh! so much fun have marked these last few months. Of course, we keenly felt the serious aspect of our status as seniors, accepting our responsibility for guiding the lower classmen and bending our efforts to making our teachers and our school proud of us. But there seemed so much more time for friendship and so many more friends to enjoy.

For the first time in the school's history the entire junior slate of officers was reelected. Returned to office were: Myron Burr, president; Ronald Driscoll, vice president; Sally Stiles, secretary; and Marget Parent, treasurer.

Janet Nicewicz was editor-in-chief of the Ellsworthian Staff; Elaine Barber and Elaine Kupchunos, assistant editors; Marilyn Hall and Jack Graham, art editors; June Rose and Irving Foster, business managers; Ina Pasqualini and Stephen Wisneski, subscription managers.

Elaine Kupchunos and Ronald Driscoll were given the serious task of disposing of our belongings in the Class Will, Ellen McCaffrey and Stephen Wisneski to foretell our futures, and Marget Parent to recapture the past in the Class History. Words and music of our class song were composed by Janet Nicewicz, and Elaine Kupchunos authored the poem.

The Senior Get Together should not be forgotten and won't be I'll wager. Elaine (Pocahontas) Kupchunos, Alf (John Smith) Bowidas, and William (Big Chief) Luscinskas appeared in a side-splitting skit. I wonder whether Pocahontas ever got that electric broom stick.

Pops Concerts held during our last three years were very popular and well attended by the public. Appearing in them were Harold Mansfield, Ina Pasqualini, Gloria Pope, Shirley Delnicki, Alfred Bowidas, Elaine Kupchunos, Marilyn Hall, Ellen McCaffrey, Ronald Driscoll, Myron Burr, Eleanor Blozie, and Stephen Wisneski.

Plans for our Washington trip sparked the magazine campaign—a lot of work but a huge success. Total subscriptions obtained not only set a new record for our school but topped all other senior classes in Connecticut. Forty-three hundred dollars and eighty-three cents worth of magazines were sold, netting the class $1,570.20. Ronald Driscoll's losing team was happy at the results, too, and gave a party to George Stone's supersalesmen. Top salesmen were Stephen Wisneski, first; June Rose, second; Janet Nicewicz, third. At the celebration, Miss Mohn, advisor to the winning team, had to show Miss Caffrey how to sell magazines to be a winner. William Luscinskas, Janet Nicewicz, and Carol Whitham were the salesmen whose names were drawn for the gift of a trip to New York, given by the Curtis' Publishing Company, along with George Stone, the captain of the winning team, and Beverly Warbec, secretary.

Ellsworth climbed to victory in sports, also, capturing the C.I.A.C. soccer tournament. Contributing to this success were our senior boys who, as juniors, had worked so faithfully on the soccer team.

And when basketball came into its own, seniors were in the forefront. Playing a great game were Irving Foster, George Stone, Alfred Bowidas, George Mellen, and Ronald Driscoll, cheered on by senior members of the cheering squad, Anne Breor, Zula Carey, and Marget Parent. Meanwhile, June Rose, Gloria Grotta, and Donna Chapman were the senior stars in basketball, and Shirley Delnicki, the manager.

It would be almost natural with a class such as ours to look for its members sharing Student Council and club responsibilities. June Rose was also president of the S.C.H.E. Club, and Ina Pasqualini, secretary. Elaine Kupchunos and Myron Burr were among those chosen to represent the chorus group at All-State. Myron Burr was president; Joan Butler, secretary, of the Student Council; while acting as chairmen of council committees were George Stone and Anne Breor.

Promise and fulfillment—perhaps our promise was not too evident as freshmen, but we like to think that we have fulfilled many of the hopes of our teachers and our parents have held for us, and that in the years to come we will make the best of the promise we now hold.

Class Will

We, the Class of 1952—after tearful entreaties and dire threats from our patient guardian, Miss Mohn—do hereby bequeath our indispensable possessions to the Hopeless in this, our last will and testament.

To the junior class we surrender the leash with which Miss Mohn so faithfully dragged c*ertain* seniors to fill out college applications and meet deadlines for the yearbook. You have no idea how much you'll need it, juniors. Ahhh—you just haven't lived yet.

To the sophomore class, especially the new South Winds editor, we give a generous supply of teacher-proof, homework-proof, and freshman-proof compasses to prevent any sophomore from getting lost in the South Winds room.

At last we come to our happy, contented little freshmen, whom we lovingly protected and guided in their hour of need. To the freshman class we entrust all the sophomore health books, so you will grow up to be big seniors someday. Greater feats than this have been accomplished.

To the walls of Ellsworth High that hear all, see all, but speak not, we leave the deep, dark secrets of the male teachers in their inner sanctum, the boiler room. Oh, for the gift of speech!

To the main office we leave the teachers' mail boxes, overflowing with unpaid bills, students' complaints about report card marks, out-dated South Winds, and shiny red apples. The mailman fills the boxes daily, but the faculty empties them annually.

To room 31 we leave the initialed hearts so carefully carved on the arm rests of the chairs. Those were the good old days!

Myron Burr gleefully drops all executive matters in Jean Harrison's lap. Watch your blood pressure, Jean.

Sadly Elaine Barber gives up her task of helping with dishes for thirty-five people to Sally Frink. Perhaps Mrs. Reed's dishwashing machine would be a welcome aid, Sally.

Lee Bahler is the recipient of John Barber's impeccable manners. Emily Post has nothing on our John.

When there's work to be done, Carol's the one—Carol Whitham's originality and initiative for social decorations remain with Richard Lyman. Will Dick's masculine touch compare with Carol's unforgettable Junior Prom scene?

Earl Larson leaves his Silver Skates news stories in the South Winds to his brother, Ray. Do you think you can surpass Earl's sensational headline records, Ray?

Marilyn Bannock wills her afternoon trips to a Hartford insurance company to Betty Jean Burnham. Don't forget your dime for bus fare, B. J.

Reluctantly Tommy Loftus bequeaths his secret for preserving his angelic and innocent ways to David Barry. All Ellsworth rejoices that the whir of wings will continue through its corridors.

Eleanor Blozie leaves her seat in Miss Caffrey's homeroom to Beverly Robidoux. Remember, Bev, absolutely and positively no opened books during morning announcements.

To anyone with his head in the clouds, Everett Bower bequeaths his pilot's license. Do you think Miles Grant would qualify?

Shirley Bancroft sighs, "I like the wide open spaces," as she leaves her love of the Middle West to Norma Pola. Go west, young girl; go west.

John Gregonis's knowledge of all tractors is willed to Raymond Jarvis. Don't forget to stop it, Raymond.

To anyone who wishes to condition for track Sally Stiles offers her position as runner at a Hartford insurance company. Consult Sally for a detailed resume.

Agnes Setsky leaves her compact of sunshine powder to Sally Rochette. Gloom is never in style, Sally.

Alfred Bowidas bestows his athletic versatility upon Norman Boulet. Do you think you can average one homer a game, top the Bowidas one hander shot, and high jump five feet, ten inches, Norm?

To Alice Kessler, Marget Parent wills her matches to keep the midnight candle burning while she studies. Abraham Lincoln thought of this first, girls.

James Gillette leaves all the priceless trinkets on his car to Andre Rendeiro. Remember, Andre, a doodad a day will keep the mechanic away.

To have a friend, be a friend—Barbara Zagorski entrusts her worth-while motto to Kathryn McCutcheon.

Gloria Pope leaves that dreamy look in her brown eyes to Elaine Pola. 'Tis a dangerous weapon, Elaine.

Jack Graham's sudden popularity with the girls after winning that 1951 Ford is received happily (and who wouldn't be happy?) by William Chapman.

June Rose leaves her mystic approach for selling subscriptions in the senior magazine campaign to Mary Jean Ahern. Getting your foot in the door is half the battle, Mary Jean.

Promptness and speed, Francis Sedar's gifted traits, are bestowed upon Robert Hayes. That includes arriving at chorus class on time, Bobby.

Leona Euskavech assigns her vital position as life of the shorthand class to Nancy Groskritz. Don't forget, Nancy, a new joke everyday.

Joan Williams leaves her petiteness and vivacity to Joan Chapman. Try elevated shoes, Joan.

Recipes for gigantic three-ring sundaes are left by Balf's chief supporter, William Luscinskas, to Jerry Aucoin and Jerry Blaney. It will take both of you to lift those Warehouse Point scoops.

Quietly Janet Ericksen and Joan Clifton leave their shy manners to Ann Barry and Janet Stone. Remember, girls, silence is golden.

Irving Foster wills his necessity of ducking under doorways to Kenneth White. A butch will help, Kenny.

With a yawn Shirley Delnicki leaves her alarm clock to Claire Stolle. Don't forget to pull out the alarm button; Shirley did.

II.

Ted Wuskell sadly donates his cherished dumbbell to Russell Snow. That's one way to develop muscles, Gogo.

To the new members of the cheerleading squad Anne Breor leaves her zest and zeal in cheering. Anne always ate wheaties before every game, girls.

Joan Butler entrusts her unheeded request for an elevator to get her to class on time and a telephone for every floor to Dorothy Norton. Keep trying, Dottie.

Gleefully Carl Petersen vacates his seat in Mr. Adams' outer office for Terry Files. Try the Surplus Energy Squad's latest handbook entitled Excuses Suited for All Occasions.

Mary Kissane is the recipient of tiny Grace Donihee's demureness.

Edwin Dezso leaves his fall hunting and fishing trips to Gilbert Anderson. Can you tell the difference between a deer and a dear? Butch always could.

Irene Sullivan and Helen Sheldon entrust their daily stations in the cafeteria kitchen to Evelyn Barbrick and Tina Florida. Shine that silverware with a smile, girls.

To any interested person with lots of hair and long finger nails Janet Nicewicz wills her job as editor of the yearbook.

George Stone leaves his poise for making extemporaneous speeches in English class to Joseph Krawski. We hope you'll never suffer from loss of words, Joey.

Ellen McCaffrey grants her exclusive rights to Manana to Joan Bassinger. Don't forget your Spanish accent, Joan.

Upon Robert Sedar, Harold Mansfield bestows his pluckiness in sports. Determination wins, Bobby.

Zula Carey's size five dancing shoes are left to Ruth Hansen. Always remember the smaller the feet the smaller the chance they'll be stepped on.

Peter Winton renews for Anthony Breau his expired contract as clean-up chairman for our parties. No dust under the rug, Frenchy.

Over the pounding of the typewriter keys, Shirley Crockett entrusts her willingness to type to Barbara Sabonis. Don't erase over the keys, Barbara.

George Mellen beamingly bequeaths his beaming countenance to Ronald Yelle. Do you think you can find a sufficient number of feminine reasons to beam about, Ron? Buzzy always seemed to.

Donna Chapman surrenders her picture collection on her locker door to Mary Barnes. Shut the door gently, Mary.

Woefully Emil Mulnite gives up his conservative ties to Wally Kreyssig. To all underclassmen with sensitive eyes we recommend dark-colored glasses.

Beverly Ericksen is the recipient of Gloria (the coach) Grotta's athletic abilities. Practice makes perfect, Bev.

Melodious sounds of hammer upon nail fade as Robert Saxton leaves his tools to Richard Woolam. A man is so precious around the house!

Marilyn Hall's art ability is willed to Lanette Lewis. Always carry a sketch book, Lanette.

With a dramatic gesture, Steve Wisneski bestows his ability to evoke sighs from young maidens in the audience upon Arthur Carney. Don't make too many swoon, Art.

Beverly Warbec wills her kindness and sincerity to Loretta Wilder. Remember that good deed for everyday, Loretta.

William Raulukaitis leaves his words that were never spoken to Roger Beaupre. Don't over do it, Roger.

With much fanfare, Ina Pasqualini relinquishes her momentous band sessions with Miss Dziob to Lorraine McClatchey. The test of a good musician is not to forget his music, Lorraine.

Stacia Paleski bestows her calm and pleasant disposition upon Nancy Badstubner. Don't let next year's freshmen get you down, Nancy.

As he speeds away, Lloyd Hevenor leaves his pride in Dodge cars to Bruce Clifford. Always remember to carry a jack with you, Bruce; even a Dodge can get a flat.

To Pat Eckert, Beverly Hansen surrenders the privilege of chauffeuring students to any point in the East Windsor universe. You'll have to trade in your horse for a car someday, Pat.

Elaine Kupchunos bestows her talent for singing and playing the guitar at the same time upon Carolyn LaPierre. Always be ready with a song, Carolyn.

To anyone with legs tireless enough to outrun a desperate partner Ronald Driscoll leaves his job as co-author of the class will. Time waits for no man—except Ronnie.

Here on the tenth of June we, the President, Myron Burr; Vice-President, Ronald Driscoll; Secretary, Sally Stiles; Treasurer, Marget Parent, set our seal to this testimony and last will, in the year of our Lord One Thousand Nine Hundred and Fifty-two.

Signed, sealed, and declared by the Class of 1952 as its last will and testament in the presence of those who have hereunto subscribed themselves as witnesses.

Class Prophecy

(Ellen, a Broadway actress starring in Call Me Late For Breakfast, and Steve, leader of the Melody Bells Orchestra, meet in a New York restaurant.)

Steve, how are the newspaper critics treating you and your orchestra?

Well, they gave me a tremendous write-up in last night's New York Times. Talking about write-ups, did you notice in this morning's Times that Joan Butler has become General of the U.S. Wacs and is over in Russia having a conference with Joe about peace settlements between the United States and Russia?

Really? I'm afraid I missed that.

Personally, between you and me, I think that she likes his mustache more than anything.

You always were a joker. But you know Joan is not the only traveling person in our class. The other morning I read that Earl Larson and Teddy Wuskell, who have become very famous explorers, have just returned from Alaska, where they have been interviewing penguins.

Those boys live an exciting life.

You know, Steve, I'll bet you'll never guess who came to visit me backstage last week.

I haven't the faintest idea! Who?

Buzzy Mellen. He asked me to put on a benefit show for some of his boys. You know he is a boys' club organizer. I wonder what happened to the club he used to have back at Ellsworth.

Buzzy Mellen, club organizer—well.

And Janet Nicewicz is new editor of that up and coming paper the Broad Brook Times.

I had no idea that Broad Brook had a newspaper.

I get a copy sent to me each week.

Do you think you might get me a copy?

I'll see if I can arrange it. Talking about our class like this reminds me that one of the old gang is a member of my orchestra.

Who?

Pete Winton is my vocalist. You ought to hear him sing Bring Back the Thrill.

I'll bet he is unique!

Talking about being unique, guess whom I saw at the fashion show at Saks Fifth Avenue last week—none other than Shirley Delnicki and Bill Luscinskas. You know they're famous Powers Models now.

I had no idea. By the way, Steve, what were you doing at a fashion show?

Well—ll, just looking around.

Uh huh. Well, that's very interesting.

You know me. Do you see T.V. very often?

Yes, and I think it is grand that Skippy Saxton has replaced Howdy Doody.

I think he is even better than the original. But—I rather like the Elaine Kupchunos program, especially since she has taken Faye Emerson's place!

Have you seen George Stone do commercials lately? It's amazing how that boy sells his products.

I love his commercials, especially his latest that goes, "Does your Spearmint lose its flavor on the bed post overnight?"

May—beeee. All kidding aside, he's really good.

Another one of our classmates now has her own radio program.

You must be talking about Shirley Bancroft in her program of Shirley Faces Life, brought to you everyday by Hinderschmitzes Peanut Butter.

So they've got Shirley facing it now.

Talking about all these T.V. shows reminds me of the other night when Tommy Loftus was starring on the Firestone Program.

Tommy on the Firestone Program! What was he doing—selling tires?

No, I'm surprised at the fact that you haven't heard him sing If I Could Tell You.

That's a mighty fine voice you have; it sounds something like Marget Margaret.

Do you mean Margaret Truman?

No, Margaret Parent. She's now a famous opera star at the Metropolitan Opera House. They say that she is better than Ezio Pinza. You ought to hear her sing Charlie My Boy.

Ezio Pinza, Charlie My Boy—this I have to hear!

I didn't think there would be so many of our students in the field of great music.

Yes, but there are more to come. Marilyn Bannock and Eleanor Blozie are now members of Spike Jones' City Slickers. Marilyn plays the washtub and Eleanor sings Cloie.

How did you know that?

They were in New York last week on a personal appearance tour.

Very interesting, but this is much more unusual. Do you remember those three musically minded students back at Ellsworth?

I don't recall.

You must remember Emil Mulnite, Shirley Crockett, and Irene Sullivan.

Were they musically inclined?

I guess they were and still are. They're now members of the Hartford Symphony. Emil plays the harp; Shirley, the piccolo; and Irene, the bass tuba.

It seems so unbelievable.

Well, isn't it? Something more incredible is that John Gregonis has a national magazine named after him—the Ladies' Home Companion.

Well, it's not everyone who can be called the Ladies' Home Companion.

I wonder how he rates. Why didn't I get that reward? What's he got that I haven't got?

What have you got, Steve?

Hmmm, come to think of it, not much.

Not so much as Fran Samson Sedar. He has just been voted Mr. America of 1962. Those muscles and that picture in Police Gazette magazine!

I didn't know that you read the Gazette—that makes two of us.

Well I don't read it very often; I usually look at the Readers' Digest. In this month's issue there was a story about Yale's new football coaches.

The last I heard Herman Hickman was there.

No, June Rose and Gloria Grotta have taken over now, and just about every student in the school has gone out for the team.

I wouldn't mind a job like that if it were at Smith College.

I don't care much for football, but I am an ardent baseball fan.

Who's your team?

The Red Sox, of course.

The Red Sox?

I have my reason. Alfred Bowidas is their star left fielder.

It's still a punk team.

Well, he never could see beyond the Red Sox, anyway.

On the subject of sports, I heard over Bill Raulukaitis' strictly sports radio program that Elaine Barber, the famous swimmer, is about to swim the channel.

Do you mean to say that Elaine Barber is going to swim the English Channel?

No, the Windsor Locks Channel back in Connecticut.

I couldn't imagine anyone's daring to swim that.

Getting back to Bill, he made a prediction that the birds would not fly south this winter and New Yorkers will have to carry umbrellas all year round.

My goodness!

Well, it's gotten to be so bad that I hear that he has had to hire bodyguards. And you'll never guess whom he hired—Grace Donihee and Joan Williams.

I certainly hope his predictions don't come true for a lot of reasons.

Still speaking of sports, do you go to rodeos?

I think they're great fun. Don't tell me some of our classmates are in a rodeo.

Haven't you heard of Bouncing John Barber's Rodeo, starring Two Gun Anne?

Two Gun Anne? Who is that?

Anne Breor!

Bless my soul and call me sixgun. I will have to go to see John and Two Gun Anne.

You know you can see John and Anne at Madison Square Garden this week. And next week you can see the Mad Crusher.

The Mad Crusher? What's that?

That, my dear lady, is Eddie Dezso. He is now a famous wrestler and he has for a manager, Lloyd Hevenor.

Such excitement! I'll just have to see Eddie, too.

Do you like excitement, too?

Yes.

I'm an ardent auto race fan, and since they are featuring lady auto race drivers, I have become extremely interested.

I should have known there was a catch somewhere.

Agnes Setsky and Stacia Paleski are in the business. They're the greatest thing since Beelzebub.

Are you a woman hater?

Shall we get back to serious things then such as the ballet?

The ballet—I love it. Is there anyone from our class in the field of dance?

Carol Whitman and Irving Foster. Just last week I was talking to Irving and he was saying that he and Carol enjoy their work together and are planning to take a tour through Africa to present their act to the natives and the Foreign Legion. They believe all people should be cultured and have appreciation of the arts.

That is a truly fine attitude. I'm very proud of them.

I'm inclined to believe there is a good income in that profession.

Now that you've brought up the subject of money, Harold Mansfield and Ronnie Driscoll might be considered the two richest members of our class. They are guards at the Philadelphia Mint. They keep a sharp look and a close hand on the money buried there.

Speaking about mints, Everett Bower is going to make a mint for himself when he releases his flying bicycle to the world.

Flying bicycle—Everett?

Everett is an inventor. He and I are close correspondents, and he confides in me with everything. He also told me he has hired Ina Pasqualini to be his tester and Janet Ericksen as Ina's first aider. He says when Ina's up, she's up and when she's down, then she needs Janet.

Poor Ina. I'll bet she's down all the time.

Speaking about being down, you're not down here for much longer, are you? Haven't I heard that you are going to Hollywood to make a motion picture with Myron Burr?

Yes, I am. You know Myron is the greatest actor and lover on the screen. They are calling him Myron Valentino Burr.

Is that what they call him? I thought it was Vasilino.

Talking about Hollywood reminds me that Jack Graham and Marilyn Hall are working at the Walt Disney Studios. Jack is Marilyn's model.

My, what a creation!

Speaking of creations, do you know who designs all my gowns? Carl Peterson—he is now a well known fashion expert.

Well, I'll bet you'll never guess who my tailor is.

No, I'm afraid not.

I have two of them—Leona Euskavech and Donna Chapman.

How simply devastating!

And Jimmy Gillette is my barber. I like the atmosphere of his place.

Who are the girls that work there?

Beverly Warbec and Sally Stiles are manicurists there. But Beverly cuts my nails so short that I can't bite them anymore.

That must be troublesome. I read recently that Zula Carey, the famous hunter, was almost trampled upon by an elephant.

Where was she hunting?

In Africa; she is the greatest hunter since Frank Buck.

How was she saved?

Well it so happens that Beverly Hansen, an African guide, shot him. I hear she has a tremendous aim. They say she was one mile away and heard Zula scream and shot point blank in the distance, shooting the elephant.

Africa is one place I have no desire to go. I like it here too much. But I'm afraid I don't know how much longer I will be here.

You're not leaving?

Last week I had to report to the draft board and they found me A.L. Incidentally, Helen Sheldon and Barbara Zagorski work there.

They do?

Yes, Helen gave me my aptitude test and Barbara is an M.P.

I hope you won't be leaving us for a while.

This restaurant is a nice place.

I almost forgot to tell you that two of our old classmates own it—Gloria Pope and Joan Clifton.

Where are they now?

They are attending the restaurant owners' convention. Gloria is giving a speech on 10,000 ways to make eggs.

Speaking about the restaurant, we haven't been waited on yet, and we've been talking for over an hour.

So we have. I believe we have covered every person in our class.

I have an appointment in a little while with Jimmy Gillette, my barber. I guess I'll just have to go hungry.

That reminds me that I have an appointment with my designer, the famous Carl. I'll just have to go hungry, too.

Maybe we can stop in again sometime when Joan and Gloria are back and talk over a poached egg.

Class Song

Four years on fleeting wings have fled since first we entered here
To learn true guidance, helpful ways, to seek out friends so dear.

We now are wiser, stronger, too;
you've given us our start;
Our hearts will always linger here
no matter where we are.

O Ellsworth High, from you, our school, we've gathered mighty strength
To build ourselves a better world of peace and happiness.

The future's light now leads us on,
but tho we part, we know
The mem'ries of these past four years will bring us joy untold.

Farewell, Ellsworth, of you we'll always boast,
Of you we'll praise the loudest,
You're the school we love the most.

—JANET NICEWICZ

Class Poem

With books and laughing hearts, together we climbed the hill of learning;
With youth's own courage and eagerness to the future we are turning.
In these four years golden knowledge our teachers did impart,
And words of wisdom were offered, not from books, but from the heart.

As we turn away from Ellsworth on this much awaited day,
We will linger before departing, each his separate way.
The memories of a cheering stand and friendships we hold dear,
Are enough to bring to the voice a tremor and to the eye, a tear.

We've known the shining way of life that you, dear Ellsworth, gave;
We know not what lies before us, but for you we will be brave,
For he who fired the soaring basketball may fire in blood and strife,
Where dreams lie shattered in the dust of a long and dawnless night.

The guiding hand, the happy days, we'll lock in memories,
No matter what our place in life, a part of us you'll be;
And within your walls we hope a part of us will stay.
We thank you, Ellsworth High School; men and women of us you've made.

Climbing to the top of a newspaper's ladder, the South Winds achieved an All-American rating in the National Scholastic Press Association Contest. Of its class only two other high school newspapers in the United States received this award for superior achievement. With a two per cent increase over last year's record the annual subscription drive concluded with the support of seventy-three per cent of the student body.

October 13, fourteen members of the staff of sixty, accompanied by their faculty advisor, Miss Arline Zehnder, attended a journalism conference in Meriden sponsored by the Connecticut Scholastic Press Association.

Editorial Board

Student Council

To establish a closer rapport between the school government and the student body was the aim of this year's Student Council. Through the public address system and school newspaper, the student body was informed of important issues before the council. An actual meeting was presented in assembly form to acquaint the school with council procedure.

New ideas and methods in school government were exchanged by sending council delegates, accompanied by Mr. Henry Adams, Principal, to the annual meeting of the Connecticut Federation of Student Councils at Glastonbury High School and inviting members of the Student Council at Suffield High School to visit Ellsworth.

In the spring representatives were sent to participate in Hi-Y Boys' State sponsored by the state Hi-Y. To mold better citizens for tomorrow has been the aim of this annual legislative assemblage and the club's advisor, Mr. Verne Olsen. Addressing the group were such distinguished men as Judge Ralph M. Grant, prominent South Windsor denizen, Mr. Edward J. Hickey, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, and Mr. Kazuo Seto, Japanese secretary of the Osaka Y.M.C.A.

In the sports world the boys entered the basketball tournament, winter olympics, and spring track meet sponsored by the county Y.M.C.A. Also included in the year's program were the following: evening suppers, a movie night sponsored in conjunction with the South Winds, and the annual deep-sea fishing trip in the spring.

Auto Mechanics

Added to the extra-curricular activities this year was the Auto Mechanics Club to acquaint boys with the theory of internal combustion of engines.

Guest speakers and movies comprised the weekly winter and early spring program; in warm weather the group met in the field house to resume their study of engines. The boys were permitted to make minor repairs on their cars. Safety practices on the operation and repairs of automobiles, outboard motors, and power lawn mowers were given.

Advanced Ensemble

To commemorate the close of the basketball season, the advanced ensemble presented a dance after the last home game, February 21.

As a class project the group of twenty members studied the background of the stringed family and learned to play its instruments. The accomplishment was featured in an all-string number at the Pops Concert.

The advanced musicians also provided music at dance assemblies, social functions, the Sports Banquet, Class Night and Graduation exercises, and the P.T.A. general spring meeting.

Band

Dressed in maroon, white, and gold uniforms, the band played at several home basketball games this year. Ellsworth's Victory Song could always be heard as the Bobcat squad ran out on the gymnasium floor.

Led by drum majorette Jacqueline Daly, the band of forty members made its annual appearance in the local Memorial Day parades. The group also played at assemblies and pep rallies and participated in the Pops Concert.

Pencils and Dolls

Student creators modeled their fashions at a spring fashion show sponsored by the S.C.H.E. May 20. Pencil dolls, originated by painting faces on empty thread spools and adorning the tops with wigs of yarn and petite hats, were sold.

At an assembly presentation the girls displayed periodical costumes, extending from the vogue of the Grecian era to that of the present day.

At Christmas the club shared its Yuletide spirit by giving its tree, complete with homemade ornaments, to a needy family.

To Bobbie,

Never forget the wonderful times we've had together. We've known you ever since the 7th grade. But we've never really known what each other was like. Don't ever forget those pictures. Hot stuff, huh. When you build that Bachelor home on the hill, remember this your first, star, border.

I hope you never forget those good old times. Were you cold when you went swimming in the River, on your father's back? (You should have been.)

When you finally get the person you want, remember to take me. I hope it's the two you want.

Much always, and much happiness. When you finally get married, I hope you have triplets!!!

See you next year.

Sincerely,
Ruthie
